And if I should live to be
The last leaf upon the tree
In the spring,
Let them smile, as I do now,
At the old forsaken bough
Where I cling.

AFTERWORD

As this book has been compiled there have been confidences given which could not, in love, be repeated and inscribed within the pages of the Taylor Family History. Suggestions have been made that emphasis be made of the tendency toward heart problems that would seem to be part of the Taylor heritage. There are those who would have this book be the harbinger of doom concerning mental depression as a familial legacy. It is easy to listen to stories of grandma's continual battle for inner peace and serenity, and as some of the first cousins fight this same battle today, it is easy to say, "It just runs in the family." In the past year it has been the fortune of several family members to be victimized by cancer. As the word spreads of the cousins' illnesses, so spread the sometime spoken and sometimes silent worry that the Taylor blood and genes carry the cells of this dreaded disease.

Medical answers are not ours to proliferate. But, common sense and prayers would suggest the following points to be considered by Taylor descendents:

1. It is only wise that ALL people, regardless of heritage, take care of their bodies by using exercise, food and time wisely. If we feel that the tendency toward heart disease is ours, then we are lucky. We have been forewarned, and should prepare our bodies to fight it, if and when it should come.

2. Grandma Taylor had 11 children. She lived on a farm where she, with the help from family members, raised the food she prepared for them daily. She was busy all the time, and there must have been times when her body and mind simply could not cope with the stress exerted upon them. From her we should absorb the message that we need to love ourselves enough to take the time to set our priorities with a strength that will allow us time for ourselves. We do not think there is an inherited mental disease in our genes; there are only tired bodies and minds which are seeking only peace and tranquility.

3. As we open the newspapers, scan magazines, listen to television it is impossible not to accept the fact that cancer is rapidly taking its place as one of the most deadly of diseases, and statistics about the victims multiply rapidly. It is not just Taylor descendants who are stricken, it is a national increase. But with the bad news comes the good: new and better cancer detection methods are being found; there have been startling break throughs in the treatment of what was once regarded as a certain death sentence. New medicines, new surgery techniques, new hopes have been added to the prognoses of cancer victims. Again, not only the Taylors, but ALL wise people should become aware of symptoms and danger signs, and make sure that they eat, live, work and play wisely.

This is the heritage we should pass on to our children: a healthy body fights any enemy better. We believe that fear and dread are not the true legacies of the Joe and Abby Scott Taylor descendents. Instead, we should pass on to them hope, health, love and wisdom. These are the things we should have learned from Grandma and Grandpa Taylor.

Garden Supper Enjoyed By Taylor Family

Taylor family members enjoyed their traditional July 24th celebration which annually honors Glen L. Taylor of American Fork, on the occasion of his birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Taylor was hostess to the large group at an elaborate hot supper served in the beautiful garden at the Taylor home. Later, the honor guest entertained the family with movie pictures taken since last year's birthday get-together.

Those attending were: Mrs. Frank R. Taylor and daughters, Kathleen and Marilyn and Carolyn, twins, guests from Raymond, Alberta, Canada; Bishop and Mrs. Weldon J. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dahlquist, Mr. and Mrs. Scott A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. August J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Golden Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Karl R. Taylor, Mrs. D. J. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Reese, Mr. and Mrs. David Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Olsen of Murray, Lt. Willis Taylor of Bushnell hospital, Mrs. Bruce Reese of American Fork, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blake of Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Bruce Reese and Mrs. Howard Blake assisted their mother during the evening.

Taylor Reunion Attracts Many At Lagoon Park

Eighty descendants lunched together in a Chinese terrace at Lagoon when the family of William G. and Abbie Jane Scott Taylor met Wednesday for their reunion.

Following the dinner a story was read by Mrs. W. O. Olson of Murray. A vocal solo by Claudia Holdaway and piano numbers by Steven Taylor were also included. Dr. Wendell Taylor, Salt Lake City, was in charge of the reunion and was assisted by Weston Taylor of Provo and Mrs. Reed Holdaway.

Weston Taylor was elected as next year's family chairman at elections held during the day and Mrs. Holdaway was named to assist. Also present for the day's activities were Barry and Allen Stratton of California.

Taylors Gather For Reunion

Aug 4 1940

The William J. Taylor family spent a delightful time at Giles' ranch in South Fork, Provo canyon, Sunday, 61 members joining in the annual reunion.

Dinner was served at two long tables, and a softball game was held between the juniors and seniors. A program was presented by the children, as follows: Vocal solo, Loraine Olsen of Murray; song, Mariam Jensen; two songs, Wallace Scott; duet, Loraine and Janice Olsen.

In the evening, luncheon was served.

The officers were held over for next year, Weldon J. Taylor being president, and C. A. Dahlquist, secretary. Mrs. Family members were present from Murray, Payson, American Fork, Lake View, Vineyard and St. George.

Annual Reunion Is Held By Taylors

Aug 5

The annual reunion of the familyq of the late William J. and Abby J. Scott Taylor, was held Thursday at Canyon Glen, which is the birth date of Mrs. Mary Bowring Taylor, and the wedding anniversary of the late W. J. Taylors.

A game of softball preceded the 6 o'clock dinner, served at long tables to 75 family members and friends.

President Golden Taylor took charge of activities and introduced Mrs. Gayle DeWitt Taylor as program chairman, with Mrs. Vivian Taylor Creer and Mrs. Mary Dahlquist Gunn as assistants. "Family Portrait" was the theme of the clever program, and Mrs. Mary T. Dahlquist and Mrs. Della T. Jensen won leather photo albums as prizes for correct identification of the display of old prints of family members.

Pictures of 12 grandsons who are in the service were displayed. A short talk was made by Richard Taylor, who recently returned from the Spanish-American mission, and who enters the service this week. Other program numbers included: Reading, Loraine Olsen of Murray; talk and piano solo, Noel Taylor, who just returned from a mission to Hawaii, the solo being accompanied on the steel guitar by a missionary companion, Dean Larsen of Wales, Utah; dance skit, in costume, Janice and Eleanor Olson; original song, composed by Mrs. Clara Madsen Taylor, sung by Joseph H. and Golden Taylor.

Mrs. Ruby Taylor Olson of Murray, is genealogical chairman, and at present, is engaged in the perfecting of family records and research. Golden Taylor was re-elected president for the coming year, with Mrs. Mary T. Dahlquist as secretary.

Community spirit is first ingredient in mortar of home's new foundation

COVERED BRIDGE, Utah County — A whole community is helping a husband and wife salvage their house, crushed by a mudslide during spring runoff.

The April mudslide pushed Phil and Madge Taylor's house off its foundation and filled the basement with mud, logs, and boulders. The house is in Covered Bridge, a small community in Spanish Fork Canyon about seven miles south of Springville.

The Taylors weren't there for the disaster. They were serving an 18-month temple mission in South America for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, but returned six months early to assess their problem.

They decided to salvage the house and property, even though damage to the home alone was estimated at $40,000. Some people told them it was beyond repair.

"Without the volunteer help of so many neighbors and friends and the church's efforts, it would be impossible, either physically or financially, for us to save our home," Taylor said.

Church members and two hired men spent three months digging out the basement, piling debris around the house.

The house, Taylor said, was no ordinary dwelling. "Our house is unusual in that it is an envelope home." It was like a thermos bottle, with air traveling around an air space surrounding the interior.

That meant the Taylors spent about $50 to heat and light their house during the winter, while people with similar-size houses paid $500.

"The basement was entirely finished with carpet, stoves and furniture," Taylor said.

The slide shoved the house about 6 inches off its foundation. Windows and support structures were knocked out.

Work is going rapidly with donated equipment and labor, and some help hired by family members and donated to the Taylors.

"We just repoured the basement floor three weeks ago and have been waiting for the house movers to come in and move the house back on its foundation."

"I can't begin to tell you about the wonderful response," Taylor said. "People have sent equipment in free of charge, and others have donated hours and days of labor."

All the wards in the Spanish Fork Stake are helping restore the house and reorganize the grounds for landscaping.

"Give us a month to six weeks and we should be back into the house, at least before the snow flies or before Christmas," Taylor said.

The Taylors lived in Ray Bowers' house in Salt Lake City until July 1. Then they moved into the home of Russell Walpole, just south of the Taylor house. The Walpoles, whose house was narrowly missed by the mudslide, are serving an LDS mission in Australia.

Taylor's spirits seem high, "but I cry when nobody is around."

Barriers and diversion chann will be built to protect against fut slides.

Taylor moved to Covered F when he retired. And despite saster, the family enjoy their bors and the community.

Program Fetes Principal From Davis

WASHINGTON — A Davis County School District principal was one of 54 people honored in the first National Distinguished Principals Program.

W. Russell Olson, Leo J. Muir Elementary School in Bountiful was named Friday by Education Secretary T. H. Bell and Samuel G. Sava, executive director of the National Association of Elementary School Principals.

Mr. Olson and the 53 other principals will be invited to Washington Oct. 12 to meet with Bell and participate in an awards ceremony. The principals were chosen by each of 45 states affiliated with the principals' association. Four people from private schools and four from overseas schools were chosen by a special panel.

The criteria used for the selection called for evaluating the excellence of the school program, how well the school addressed the social as well as academic needs of all its students and whether the school had close ties with parents and local business organizations.

Each winner has served as a principal for at least five years.
